

ALEXANDRIA, VA.

MONDAY EVENING, OCT. 30, 1882.

Governor Cameron showed very conclusively by his speech Friday night that he has abandoned the ideas and principles which controlled him but a few years ago, and adopted others directly in conflict with them. Now he says:

"Dire prophecies had been made of what would follow if the colored race were given the rights which the readjuster party had pledged they should have."

"Then he prophesied:

"Nay, more, they (the Bollingties,) are willing to honor negro assistance to accomplish this infamy to the State, and then they claim to be conservatives, and ask white men to vote with them."

"The motives which impel the radical leaders to adopt this change of tactics are sufficiently intelligible. They hope and with good reason, that the links of the Conservative formation once broken, they can regain their supremacy. It is but a small sacrifice that they should pay a hopeless candidacy for the senate for an opportunity of possessing the office and patronage of the leading community in Southside, Virginia."

Now he says:

"To establish the white man's rights it was in nowise necessary to abridge those of the colored people."

Then he spoke thus:

"Richard and Van Auker will be very much disappointed on Tuesday night if it shall be found that Mr. Hinton has been elected. Such news as that will drive iron into the souls of the oppressors of our brethren, the feeders on our substance, and the persecutors of our registers and judges. But all true conservatives will rejoice at it. Do the white people of Petersburg, wish to labor for the satisfaction of the radical leaders."

"Before casting their ballots, we beg of all white men who ever had an idea of supporting Mr. Bolling, to pause and ask themselves what earthly object can have induced the radical leaders to appear in this canvass as the democrats of a so-called conservative faction. What has brought about this sudden appearance of agreement between men who, but a few months ago, were on the same amicable terms as cats and dogs? Have the radicals all at once become liberal and patriotic? Has the carpet-bagger leopold changed his spots or the blind Ethiopian his skin? Or is it a drop tail scheme of the radicals to sacrifice a shadow now to the securing of a substantial victory hereafter."

Now "the democratic party is dead in political sin and transgression." Then he was an ardent and ultra democrat as the above extracts prove. Now "in war and in peace General Mahone had always been his friend." Then the subtle influence of General Mahone was at work corrupting the State and its legislature. Certainly Governor Cameron can boast of being the most inconsistent and changeable man now living.

Most of the reputable white republicans in Virginia will vote against Mahone, because having eyes to see what Mahoneism really is, and having reason they know that their welfare depends upon that of the community of which they form a part, and that all the interests of a State must necessarily suffer when the Government of that State is entrusted to the hands of such a gang as that which now controls Virginia. The Virginia republicans are sustained in the determination referred to by a republican newspaper so staunch and pronounced as the New York Tribune, which says:

"The old attempt to govern the South by a union of the carpet-bag element with the negroes has largely failed. But the attempt to place the negro vote under the control of the desperadoes of the South is ominous of evil. There is no moral strength to such a movement. It is inherently and inevitably bad for the republican party in the South, bad for it in the North, bad for the negro, bad for the country. Among the class called carpet-baggers there were some of the best of men, honorable and to be honored. Their failure was not due to lack of personal character, but to causes entirely beyond it, and they have earned reputations for courage, self-sacrifice and devotion to the liberty of which the most honored statesmen might well be proud. If politically weak, they were morally strong. To take a new device and accept for republican leaders in the South men so bad that they were even forced out of the democratic party is a blunder so deplorable and withal so stupid that no previous republican administration could ever possibly commit it. Should not a halt be called?"

It turns out that the gist of the disclosures with which Mr. John Woltz has been threatening President Arthur and General Mahone for some time past is that the President acknowledged to Mr. Dezerdoff that there was a bargain between himself and the General, the terms of which though hard he was forced to comply with, and that subsequently the President told Mr. Jorgensen that the General was a "d-d hog." As there is nothing surprising or even new in these delayed disclosures, Mr. Woltz need not have been so long about making them. Everybody has been aware of the bargain ever since Guitau's bullet enabled the President to make it, and though the President's knowledge that the General is included among the pachydermata was only acquired and expressed during the last session of Congress, it is stated that other people have possessed it for many years. Governor Cameron, however, don't believe it, for if he did he would have used the word hogs instead of toe-nails in the new standard of value he has adopted for nearly all the white people of his State.

Governor Cameron says the Mahoneites are bossed by "promises of retrenchment and reform." What sort of retrenchment? Why the appropriations made by the Mahone Legislatures greatly exceed those made by the democratic Legislatures that immediately preceded them. And what sort of reform? Why not only the charitable and educational institutions of the State, but even the judiciary have been prostituted to the base purposes of low partisanship; and General Mahone, according to his late friends Ruffin and Fulkerson, has acquired an immense fortune by running the Legislature in his own interest, and trading upon the misfortunes of his State.

GENERAL MAHONE professes to be the special champion of the poor and of the working man. And yet when the Chinese bill, which protects American labor, was before the Senate the General supported all the amendments that were proposed to make it less stringent, and to leave openings through which Chinese cheap labor could enter the country.

FROM WASHINGTON

[Special Correspondence of the Alexandria Gazette.]
WASHINGTON, D. C., October 30, 1882.—In the U. S. Supreme Court to-day Chief Justice Waite granted the motion of Mr. Royall to advance the Virginia coupon case on the docket, and designated the 2d Monday in January as the day on which that case shall be argued.

It is rumored here that Messrs. Ginnell, of Fairfax, and Ragland, of Petersburg, who had a difficulty at Fairfax Court House last Saturday during Gov. Cameron's speech there, and both of whom were here yesterday, have gone back to Fairfax county to fight duel.

Mr. Barbour went to New York to-day on important business but will, it is understood, return in time to be present at the Clarke county meeting.

A North Carolina politician who arrived here from his State this morning says that the only doubtful district there besides the negro district, in which the democrats are making no canvass, and in which O'Hara, a negro, will be elected, is the 3d, or the Wilmington district, in which the democrats have a majority, but their candidate is unpopular. He says he parted with Senator Vance last Friday night, and that the Senator was certain the State would go democratic.

A newspaper correspondent just returned from a short visit to Richmond says the people there are very sanguine of the defeat of the Boss next week, and that they say the only hopes the Mahoneites have is in a solid negro vote, in which they will be disappointed, as Dawson's vote will greatly exceed the general expectations, as most of the self-respecting colored people of the State will support him.

Mr. John Goodie is in the city. He says that Marshall is prosecuting an active, vigorous, and effective campaign in his, the Norfolk district, that the contest is between Marshall and Dezerdoff, both anti-Mahoneites, and that Libby, the Mahone candidate, will be the third man in the race.

Senator Edmunds is in the city. He was in the Supreme Court room this morning listening to the decisions that were being delivered, and looked as though he longed to be at work again in the Senate Chamber, a few days distant, at his favorite occupation—denouncing the South and the people thereof.

General Mahone has closed his campaign so far as it could be conducted from this city, and has relieved his clerks, vacated the Portland Flats, and moved off bag and baggage to Richmond, from which city he will distribute the money of which he has fleeced the men, women and children hailing from Virginia, who hold federal offices; and this it is said, is his weak point, as those to whom he must entrust this money are no better than his members of the Legislature, who, he said, were so venal that he had to bind them to prevent their selling out to the democrats.

Arrangements for the Garfield fair are rapidly approaching completion. The apparatus for lighting the rotunda of the Capitol, in which the fair is to be held, with electricity is complete and in order. It was thought best not to invite Mrs. Garfield, who will not be present.

Senator Johnston when here last week said that his country, Washington, which gave Cameron seven hundred majority last year would give Massey fully as much this year. That will make a change of fourteen hundred votes in one county alone. At that rate the six thousand majority Cameron got in that district last year will not be hard to overcome.

The commission to settle the claims arising from the sickness and death of the late President met at the Treasury Department to-day. The question that bothers them is whether they shall report all the claims to Congress and ask for another appropriation, or scale the claims so as to make their payment come within the sum that has been appropriated, which is $57,500, while the doctors' bills alone amount to $96,000.

Mrs. Turner, one of the oldest public school teachers in Georgetown, died suddenly there yesterday.

A gentleman who was present at Wytheville on the 27th says that the democrats in the new district of Virginia almost unanimously agreed that the running of two anti-Mahone candidates for Congress in that district will give Massey a great advantage, as he will be upon both tickets, and that he will be elected by a large majority.

The chances are that Fulkerson will get a majority in all of the counties in the western end, whilst Bland, Giles and possibly Tazewell will go for Newberry. The democrats of Montgomery, Wythe, Smythe, Pulaski and Craig can decide the matter by casting their votes where they will do the most good. It does not require a Solomon to point out the man.

The Smithsonian Institute received on Saturday last from South America three white-headed monkeys. The Institute usually sends such contributions to the Zoological Gardens in Philadelphia, but it kept these cousins of the human race and has supplied them with comfortable accommodations. The officials there are not pleased at the way the Institute is being disposed to furnish attractions to the new National Museum.

TO-DAY'S TELEGRAPHIC NEWS.

During a fire in Oakland, Cal., yesterday, a Chinaman was burned to death.

A Pullman sleeping car on the road between London and Glasgow was destroyed by fire last night, and a passenger burned to death.

Casper Younger has been arrested in Philadelphia charged with attempting to kill his wife and children and several kinsmen.

The northern bound train on the Wilmington and Weldon R. R. was derailed by running over a cow near Petersburg early this morning. The mail and baggage cars were smashed, but no one was hurt.

The troubles in France are as great as ever. Proclamations are posted in different places inciting people to violence. On a proclamation affixed to St. Sulphice's church yesterday were the following words: "Mortaux exploiters! vive revolution sociale!"

A cow was run over and instantly killed by the local train on the Washington and Alexandria R. R. yesterday.

NEWS OF THE DAY

"To show the very age and body of the Times."

The Bey of Tunis is dead, and Sidi Ali Bey, his brother, has assumed power.

Mr. Robert Garrett, first-vic president of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad, arrived in New York from Europe yesterday.

Immediately after the confinement of the Queen of Spain a decree will be issued convening the Cortes.

Evidence continues to accumulate as to Arabi Pacha's complicity in the pillage and burning of Alexandria. The trial of Arabi will begin in a few days.

All the strategic points at Lyons, France, are occupied by French troops. If further explosions occur, the city will be placed under martial law.

The Flint cotton mill at Fall River, Mass., was burned on Saturday. The loss is estimated at $700,000, on which there is an insurance of $520,000.

Mary Griffin died yesterday evening at the University Hospital, Baltimore, and it is alleged that her death resulted from punishment inflicted by her father some days ago. She was in a delicate condition, and gave birth to a dead child some hours before her death.

The Baltimore and Ohio Railroad Company have bought the narrow-gauge line between Pittsburg and Washington, Pa., known as the Pittsburg Southern. The purpose is to rebuild part of it and make the line a standard gauge, and as such to run their route from Pittsburg to the West.

Services commemorating the consecration of four bishops fifty years ago were held last night at St. Paul's Church, New York. The bishops were Rev. Charles Pettit McVain, of Ohio; John Henry Hopkins of Vermont; George W. Doane, of New Jersey, and Benjamin Bosworth, of Kentucky. The latter is the sole survivor, but was not present.

POLITICAL

Gov. Cameron and Hon. John Paul spoke at Fairfax C. H., on Saturday. The weather was inclement and the crowd not great.

Every democrat ought to be able to see that the election of Massey will be the deadliest and most fatal blow Mahoneism can possibly receive.

Judge L. C. Bristow, the readjuster judge, of Middlesex county, has declined to pay a $20 assessment for campaign purpose by Senator Mahone, as chairman of the readjuster committee.

The Straightout republicans had a meeting at Lynchburg on Saturday night. The crowd was variously estimated at from 800 to 1,000. They were addressed by Capt. W. S. Lundy in a speech that aroused great enthusiasm.

Politics in Fairfax.

(Correspondence of the ALEXANDRIA GAZETTE.)
The political tea-kettle is now boiling, and excitement is on the increase. Last Tuesday Barbour and Massey stirred up things considerably. There is no use trying to disguise the fact—Massey's speech was a heavy and telling one. The democrats are working like beavers and the result of this work will be felt upon the day of election.

Barbour's plain, straightforward speech here last Tuesday created a strong tide of opinion in his favor. We will do our whole duty on the 7th of next month.

The coalition barbecue at this place on Saturday came off. It was a rich affair beyond doubt. The crowd numbered, no doubt, three hundred and fifty, divided as follows: One hundred white, twenty being democrats; fifty colored women; twenty-five boys of both colors; half a dozen white ladies, and one hundred and sixty-nine black voters.

Walker R. Millan and Job Hawxburst presided. The speakers present were His Excellency, To-nail Cameron, Hayti Langston, anti-Good Templar Paul and Speller Farr. Hon. Isaac Felton, president of the coal-oil-litton club at this place, hung about the edge of the crowd, but was not invited to a seat on the stand. It would not surprise us at all if Isaac bolts on the day of election; he says he can't take everything. If he can't it is only because he is not bodily able to lift it.

Without doubt it was the most disorderly gang that ever met at a public meeting in this county. The few white men present certainly were blamed for bringing their lady friends and relatives. We never before saw and heard a drunker and more profane crowd of negroes, except at a campaign.

One of the sable maidens succeeded in starting a fight with a youth of her own complexion, and the air was made vocal with language that would have brought the blush to the cheek of even John S. Wise. Any man, claiming to be a Virginian and desiring the good of his State, to vote for a class of men cheek by jowl with such a mistake about it, who will not tell you at the bidding of the Boss, be handed over to such Administration.

He positively refused, though a poor man, to wear a Mahone collar around his neck as the price of his office.

His bitterest enemy will admit the fact that he has brains. Therefore, if elected to Congress, he would have the ability to serve Virginia as much as any other man in the State.

The very fact that he was the man "that beat the Boss" would give him great prominence in Congress, and particularly in a democratic House of Representatives, which we are almost sure to have.

When Mr. Massey spoke here last Tuesday the crowd was composed of some of our best men, not a drunken man was in the court house, and nothing was said or done to offend the most refined. Quite a contrast to the proceedings of yesterday. While there are many colored men in our county who are above doing as did those who were there yesterday, they are the exception.

The good people of Fairfax, and their name is legion, do not intend to let the party mis-called liberal, have the opportunity of degrading Virginia any longer, and you may put down Fairfax as safe for the democracy next Tuesday week, and don't you fail to charge your memory with it.

FAIRFAX C. H., Va., Oct. 30th, 1882.

Why Mr. Massey Should Be Elected.

He is, and he claims always to have been, a democrat; and he is a man of ability.

He is opposed to the internal revenue laws, which tax tobacco sixteen cents per pound and whiskey ninety cents per gallon; and if elected will vote to repeal such laws, and so kill off that great source of corruption.

He is not willing that the State of Virginia shall, at the bidding of the Boss, be handed over to such Administration.

He positively refused, though a poor man, to wear a Mahone collar around his neck as the price of his office.

His bitterest enemy will admit the fact that he has brains. Therefore, if elected to Congress, he would have the ability to serve Virginia as much as any other man in the State.

The very fact that he was the man "that beat the Boss" would give him great prominence in Congress, and particularly in a democratic House of Representatives, which we are almost sure to have.

Make yourself healthy and strong. Make life happy by using Brown's Iron Bitters.

VIRGINIA NEWS.

Diphtheria still prevails in Pittsylvania and Fairfax counties. Several persons have died recently in both counties.

Mr. Blaine owns valuable property along the line of the Richmond and Alleghany Railroad, but has disposed of all his interest in the road itself.

Warrenton may lose two valuable citizens at an early day, Captain H. R. Garden and Dr. D. C. Gordon. Captain Gordon goes to New York, but Dr. G. is unsettled.

Mr. James B. Pace is now regarded as the wealthiest man in Virginia. He made his money in the tobacco business in Richmond, where he resides.

There was issued on Wednesday from the clerk's office, of Montgomery county a marriage license to a groom of nineteen summers. The bride is but fourteen.

There is no detective corps attached to the Richmond police at the present time, though there are several detectives in the city who act on private account.

Lee Rhodes, brother of Jim Rhodes, the murderer of the Massie family, was convicted at Charlottesville, on Saturday of murder in the second degree and sentenced to the State penitentiary for eleven years.

Dr. William Hamilton, who was for so many years the assistant physician at the Western Lunatic Asylum, left on Monday last for Kentucky, in which State he has been offered the place of assistant superintendent in one of the State asylums for the insane.

Charlottesville is to have another bank, "The Bank of Albemarle," with S. V. Southall, president; N. M. Page, vice president; Greene Peyton cashier; S. V. Southall, N. M. Page, Drury Wood, John B. Minor, L. T. Hamel, Jas. D. Jones and Peyton S. Coles directors.

The case of Solomon Jones, the colored man charged with killing his son on the Petersburg railroad track some two months since, came up Friday at Clement's store, in Chesterfield county. He was committed for trial at the next term of the County Court, and bail was refused.

The Episcopal Congress, which was in session in Richmond last week, adjourned on Friday night. Bishop Whittle said he thought this Congress had been one of the best and most successful he had ever attended. He dwelt upon the pleasure the sessions had been to the Richmond people, and wished the members a happy return to their homes.

C. W. Spicer's large tobacco factory, corner of Washington and Jones streets, Petersburg, was destroyed by fire Saturday night. The origin of the fire is unknown, but it is supposed to have caught from the engine. The destruction of the building, stock, and machinery was complete, and there is a clear loss of between $55,000 and $40,000. The stock of manufactured tobacco on hand was somewhat light.

Mrs. Pickett, widow of the late General George E. Pickett, of the Confederate army, is critically ill at the Exchange Hotel, in Richmond, and was reported dying last night.

Through the influence of some of the U. S. army officers who had been classmates of her husband at West Point, and in the Mexican war with him, she was more than a year ago given a clerkship at Washington. Some months ago she was turned out by Mahone's influence in order to make room for some of his henchmen. It is understood that she was mainly dependent upon her salary for support.

The Railway Age of Chicago prints a communication from Mr. Robert A. Martin, of Petersburg, claiming that what is now known as the Petersburg Railroad was chartered in 1830, and that there is reason to believe that it was the first road in this country to use steam power in transporting passengers, as the Baltimore and Ohio road first used horses. The road by its charter was prohibited from charging over 17 cents a ton per mile for freight and 8 cents a mile for passengers. The freight cars held three tons of produce and the coaches from sixteen to eighteen passengers, and the highest speed attained was sixty miles in five hours.

On Monday last the Sheriff of Montgomery county reached Salem, with David Hall, who is charged with the murder of Charles Bowyer ten years ago. He is the son of Thomas Hall, one of the wealthiest men in Montgomery county, and is thirty-one years of age. Young Hall was arrested several months ago in Floyd county for stealing a saddle. He was recognized there as the murderer of Bowyer and was taken to jail. On Monday morning last it was discovered that Hall had made an attempt to liberate himself by filing two or three of the bars of the cage in which he was confined, and immediately after the discovery, it was decided to remove him to the Salem jail, which is more secure and substantial. A very ingenious letter has been found, written by Hall to some friends in North Carolina, whom he was expecting to assist him in making his escape, urging them to come on.

"Fear brings disgrace, bravery brings honor, cowardice saves no man from his fate," says the Caliph Omar; but Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup has saved millions from an awful fate.

Another Difficulty Between Hon. Geo. D. Wise and Hon. John Ambler Smith.

The Richmond Whig reports that John Ambler Smith and George D. Wise had a difficulty at McKenney's store, in Caroline county, Friday afternoon. It says: "Both gentlemen were on hand to address the sovereigns, and, as an eye-witness says, Mr. Wise made an accusation against Mr. Smith, and Mr. Smith in turn told Mr. Wise that he lied. Mr. Wise then said that he would settle with Mr. Smith after a while, and while Mr. Smith was standing near the speaker's stand Mr. Wise threw a glass at him, but it missed Mr. Smith and broke in a hundred pieces on the ground. Mr. Smith then drew his pistol, and as he pointed at Mr. Wise that gentleman said he was unarmed, and Mr. Smith, at the suggestion of a friend, put his pistol back in his pocket, and the two gentlemen were prevented by friends from coming together. Subsequently Mr. Smith was arrested and bound over by a magistrate in the sum of $500."

IN THE RAILROAD BUSINESS AGAIN.—The Richmond correspondent of the Petersburg Independent, writes to that paper that "two weeks ago your reporter heard from a source that is liable to get hold of railway information, that it was said on the streets that General Mahone would have control of the Danville road when it shall be reorganized."

He positively refused, though a poor man, to wear a Mahone collar around his neck as the price of his office.

His bitterest enemy will admit the fact that he has brains. Therefore, if elected to Congress, he would have the ability to serve Virginia as much as any other man in the State.

The very fact that he was the man "that beat the Boss" would give him great prominence in Congress, and particularly in a democratic House of Representatives, which we are almost sure to have.

Mothers! Mothers!! Mothers!!!

Are you disturbed at night and broken of your rest by a sick child suffering and crying with the excruciating pain of cutting teeth? If so, go at once and get a bottle of Mrs. WINSLOW'S SOUTHERN SYRUP. It will relieve the poor little sufferer immediately—depend upon it; there is no other remedy. There is not a mother on earth who has ever used it, who will not tell you at once that it will regulate the bowels, and give rest to the mother, and relief and health to the child, operating like magic. It is perfectly safe to use in all cases, and pleasant to the taste, and is the prescription of one of the oldest and best female physicians and nurses in the United States. Sold everywhere. 25 cents a bottle.

Woodlawn Agricultural Society.

(Reported for the Alexandria Gazette.)
The October meeting was held at the house of Benjamin Hunter on the 21st instant, R. F. Roberts President and N. W. Pierson secretary.

Members of the club who visited the Fair at Culpeper were called upon to report what they saw interesting to farmers.

The day that they visited the Fair being rainy, gave them an unfavorable impression of the exhibition, which appeared to be rather meager in display of stock of all kinds, except the usual number of trotters and racers which filled the programme.

Complaint was made of the management of the railroad, where cars were kept running all day until nearly night when all trains ceased running, compelling a large number to walk from the fair grounds to Culpeper in the rain.

The subject for discussion being corn-raising, it was introduced by Stacy H. Snowden placing an armful of ears of corn on the benches, of a pale yellow variety measuring from 12 to 14 inches in length, 20 rows, numbering over 1,000 kernels to an ear, raised without fertilizers.

The seed came from New Jersey many years ago, had improved in cultivating here. Vm. Hunter exhibited a variety called Pennsylvania flint, of a deep yellow color, 8 rows, ears measuring 12 inches in length, grown in 90 days, good for the table as well as the manger.

Each corn-grower present was asked to give his opinion on the best time and mode of preparing the ground for planting and cultivating, the variety to raise, the distance apart and the number of stalks to each hill. Thirteen preferred raising the white variety while four preferred the yellow. The depth to plow the ground was from four to seven inches, hills three and a half, to four feet apart, leaving two stalks to the hill, cultivating with double shovels. Some preferred plowing the ground in the fall or during the winter so as to allow the furrows to become frozen, to kill the grubs and pulverize the soil. Covering the seed is generally done with a plow, some turning two furrows, and a few days afterward harrow down.

The critics in their report gave due credit to the young host for the general appearance of thrift and good management of his farm and surroundings.

S. H. Snowden had on exhibition a basket of fall and winter apples which were tested as to eating qualities, and found to be all that could be desired. The subject for consideration at the next meeting of the club is the dairy interest.

On motion of E. Mason the next meeting of the club will be held November 25th, it being one week later than the regular time on account of the Quarterly meeting of Friends to be held at Woodlawn that week.

The club will meet at A. W. Harrison's. The Officers Committee are B. Barton, C. Lukens and S. Palman.
